

Different coding languages

Language	Description
C++	is a general-purpose programming language.
C#	is a member of the 'C' language family it shares similar logic to C++ but is regarded as easier to use.
Java	is a general purpose, class based, object-oriented programming language designed for application development and has less implementation dependencies.
JavaScript	allows for creating dynamic features on web pages that cannot be done with only HTML and CSS.
PHP	is a programming language mostly used for web development.
Python	is an interpreted high-level general-purpose programming language.
Ruby	is most often used to build websites and web applications.
Scala	is a popular programming language often seen as an alternative to Java.
SQL	stands for Structured Query Language and is used to communicate with a database.
Swift	is relatively new and the language behind most modern iOS applications.